

August 2, 2012

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

PRESS RELEASE #212

SUBJECT: Curtis Season Opens with Hamlet Has No Legs!

CONTACT: Tiina Mittler, Curtis Theatre Manager, (714) 990-7723

BREA, Calif. — See the passion. Witness the glory. Behold the puppets? Hamlet Has No Legs! is Shakespeare's immortal classic reinvented as an off-the-wall, all-puppet production for the Curtis Theater 2012-13 season opener. Friday and Saturday shows will be staged at 8:00 p.m. on the weekends of September 14 & 15 and 21 & 22.

Improvisation, intrigue and even sword fighting are served up by the edgy and hilarious All Puppet Players in Hamlet Has No Legs! You've never seen it before as interpreted by this creative troupe of actor-puppeteers. With a dedicated and growing fan base, the Bard's classic tale is reinvented with all the betrayal, love, ghosts, and action to be discovered anew. The All Puppet Players attract sell-out audiences, so early purchases are advised.

Tickets are $20 for adults, $17 for seniors and $15 for children or students. Curtis season subscribers enjoy additional savings when ordering for multiple shows. Make ticket purchases through the Curtis Theatre Box Office, located at Number 1 Civic Center Circle, (Birch and Randolph) from 11:00 a.m. – 2:00 p.m. Tuesday through Friday. Or, place an order online at www.curtistheatre.com. Phone orders are accepted at (714) 990-7722.

###