GENERAL SESSION

PRESIDING:

Frank Bigelow, CSAC President and Madera County Supervisor

KEYNOTE PROGRAM:

2007: A Year of Reform

Corrections reform and health care reform are two vital issues that the Governor and Legislature will be tackling in 2007. Key elements of these proposals — and their potential impacts on California counties — will be addressed. Elizabeth Hill, the state's non-partisan fiscal analyst, will offer her thoughts on the Governor's proposed spending plan for 2007–08, opportunities for legislative review and response, and the state's general fiscal health.

SPEAKERS:

- Elizabeth Hill, Legislative Analyst, Legislative Analyst's Office
- Secretary Kim Belshé, California Health & Human Services Agency
- Secretary James Tilton, California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation

WORKSHOP

A Policy-Driven State Budget

California's state budget process has become a primary vehicle for major policy agendas. In 2007, counties will be faced with a number of significant issues that will likely be components of the state's 2007-08 final budget, including corrections reform, health care reform, and allocation of infrastructure bond funds. This workshop will focus on the critical issues that are coming to the forefront of this important policy and fiscal debate, which clearly has implications for counties.

MODERATOR:

- Kathy Long, Supervisor, Ventura County

PANEL:

- Dan Carson, Legislative Analyst's Office
- Rick Robinson, CEO, Stanislaus County
- Don Peterson, Principle, Peterson Consulting, Inc.
- Craig Cornett, Chief Budget Advisor, Office of Assembly Speaker Núñez
- Vince Brown, Chief Deputy Director, Finance, State Department of Finance

LUNCHEON PROGRAM

PRESIDING:

Rich Gordon, CSAC 1st Vice President and San Mateo County Supervisor

FEATURED PROGRAM:

Confronting Challenges New and Old

This year's budget debate promises to bring old challenges, such as the structural budget shortfall estimated to be $5 billion next year, as well as new challenges, including health care reform and corrections reform, and the allocation of billions of dollars of infrastructure bond proceeds. Will the Legislature reach bipartisan agreements to tackle these critical issues facing the state? Hear from both Democratic and Republican leaders of the Legislature on budget issues that have interest and direct impacts to county government.

SPEAKERS:

- The Honorable Arnold Schwarzenegger, Governor of the State of California
- The Honorable Roger Niello, Member of the Assembly
- The Honorable John Laird, Member of the Assembly

Find Your Health Career

California has a significant shortage of health care professionals in every facet of health care delivery, including the public health and social services sector.

As California's population continues to grow and age, the challenge of providing quality health care and fully staffing health care facilities will soon become a crisis.

Find out how this situation affects county health services, particularly in rural and inner-city regions. Learn how the educational community, public agencies and private organizations are working together to grow the health care workforce.
