FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Free screening of 'Mission Viejo: A Living Legacy' Wednesday, Feb. 6

If you want an intimate look inside the making of Mission Viejo – one of the first planned communities in the nation – then don't miss a special screening of "Mission Viejo: A Living Legacy" on Wednesday, February 6.

MVTV will present the free screening of the "Mission Viejo: A Living Legacy" history series at 7 p.m. in the Sycamore Room at the Norman P. Murray Community and Senior Center, 24932 Veterans Way.

The documentary is about the unique history of this City's formation and what kind of planning it took to build Mission Viejo, now a city of over 100,000. It features interviews with many who were intimately involved in the Mission Viejo Company that talk about how this community went from ranchland to a city. The filmmakers will be on hand to answer questions after the free screening.

Don't miss this exciting evening that is perfect for people of all ages. For more information, call 949-470-3052.
